

We can help you get Brexit ready

With lots of uncertainty surrounding Brexit and many businesses asking what they should do to prepare, Seymour Taylor is committed to going further to help clients as much as possible ahead of the UK's departure from the European Union (EU).

Post-EU scenario-planning can be a difficult exercise for many businesses, as so much remains unknown. This is exactly where Seymour Taylor and our MGI Worldwide colleagues in the UK & Ireland and across Europe can help, thanks to a new service geared specifically for UK businesses that are either operating in or trading with the EU.

Start preparing now for 29 March 2019

Our service is specifically geared for UK businesses and provides the opportunity for them to be on a more secure footing – regardless of the final exit deal.

As part of this new package Seymour Taylor and our MGI Worldwide colleagues in the UK & Ireland and across Europe will work together to set up a new entity in Ireland (or another European jurisdiction) and take care of the associated steps, including creating the company, setting up a bank account, registering for the appropriate taxes, setting up a PAYE scheme and covering statutory returns, to name just a few.

Having an entity in another jurisdiction can help to alleviate some of the uncertainty surrounding Brexit, providing businesses with greater market confidence.

UK businesses need to stay ahead of the curve, so the day after Brexit they can press the button and start running under a new entity and continue to serve their market in the European Economic Area post-Brexit.
